My name is Lynn Schieni, I live in Salisbury, MO. The Cleanline Energy Group is trying to get utility status here so that they can riddle our beautiful state with these 150 foot transmission towers. Their potential route is going through our property, it will take out 98 percent of our tree's and farm land, because of the 200 foot easement that they want. Why the 200 Foot easement, so they can put another one right beside that one in the future? This will make our property value go down, and the little bit of compensation that they want to give us will not cover that at all. I really think you all need to think this through, all these company's want to get on the money train for wind energy. There has got to be a way that they can put these lines underground, or have less killowatts running through these lines so that the transmission towers won't have to be so big. Oh, by the way, Clean Line Energy Group is owned by a couple of billionares in Houston, TX, and the United Kingdom Grid in Europe!!!!They can turn around and sell it to whomever after it's put up! We are getting a minimul amount of the energy in Missouri, they are going to drop off a little in St.Louis so that they can get their utilty status but most of it will go out east. Why can't each state have control of wind energy, Why should we in Missouri have to forfeit our land for energy out east!!! Guess what every state has wind!!!!
