Date: Monday, February 09, 2015 4:22:43 PM

We are in the current climate crisis because of the cumulative effects of fossil fuel use. To continue on that path is folly and the eventual collapse of civilization as we know it. The push to export LNG is short-sighted and dangerous policy. We must focus on reducing both CO2 and methane emissions, not finding additional ways to spread LNG around the globe. To do any less endangers the health and welfare of US citizens and future generations. The science on climate change is indisputable. This export project does not support the Public Good.
