Mr. Moniz,

Reading through the comments posted regarding Section 1222, it seems most comments with support for the project come from out of state or from companies or organizations that will directly benefit from the construction of the Plains and Eastern HVDC line. Further, I feel Clean Line Energy is influencing businesses to provide comments supporting their position. The only comments that should be held relevant are those that come from Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Tennessee's. Comments coming from Nebraska, Florida, Texas, California, etc should have no weight in your decision. They are not affected as we are as landowners. They hold no financial interest or loss of our property values should this project be approved. They will not have to live the negative impact to our environment, loss of thousands of dollars of property value, ill effects from the EMF's these lines produce, from the destruction of sacred Native American hertiage tribal grounds and artifacts. It is us along this line that will have the lives impacted forever.
