Connecting Our People, Simplifying Our Work, Liberating Our Data

portal.doe.gov

- The iManage Program is consolidating and streamlining Department-wide efforts to integrate financial, budgetary, procurement, personnel, program and performance information.
- This unified system is supported by a central data warehouse and portal that links common data elements from each of the Department's business systems and supports both external and internal reporting.

iManage connects our key corporate systems and data together under one umbrella.

iPortal provides the view to the corporate information in a completely integrated and consistent environment iPortal is the iManage window on our DOE world. iPortal connects the major corporate systems together under one umbrella. iPortal continually improves on the three main objectives of:

- Connecting People:

Through the utilization of “best in breed” Web 2.0 technologies to provides a collaborative environment to keep work groups and communities well informed and integrated fostering greater and more effective communication across the enterprise.

- Simplifying Work:

By bringing disparate systems together into a unified and integrated view of the overall enterprise.

- Liberating Data:

Strong integration between corporate systems and ad-hoc and dashboard reporting tools allowing management to review/analyze potential areas of concern before they become real issues.

Our Mission

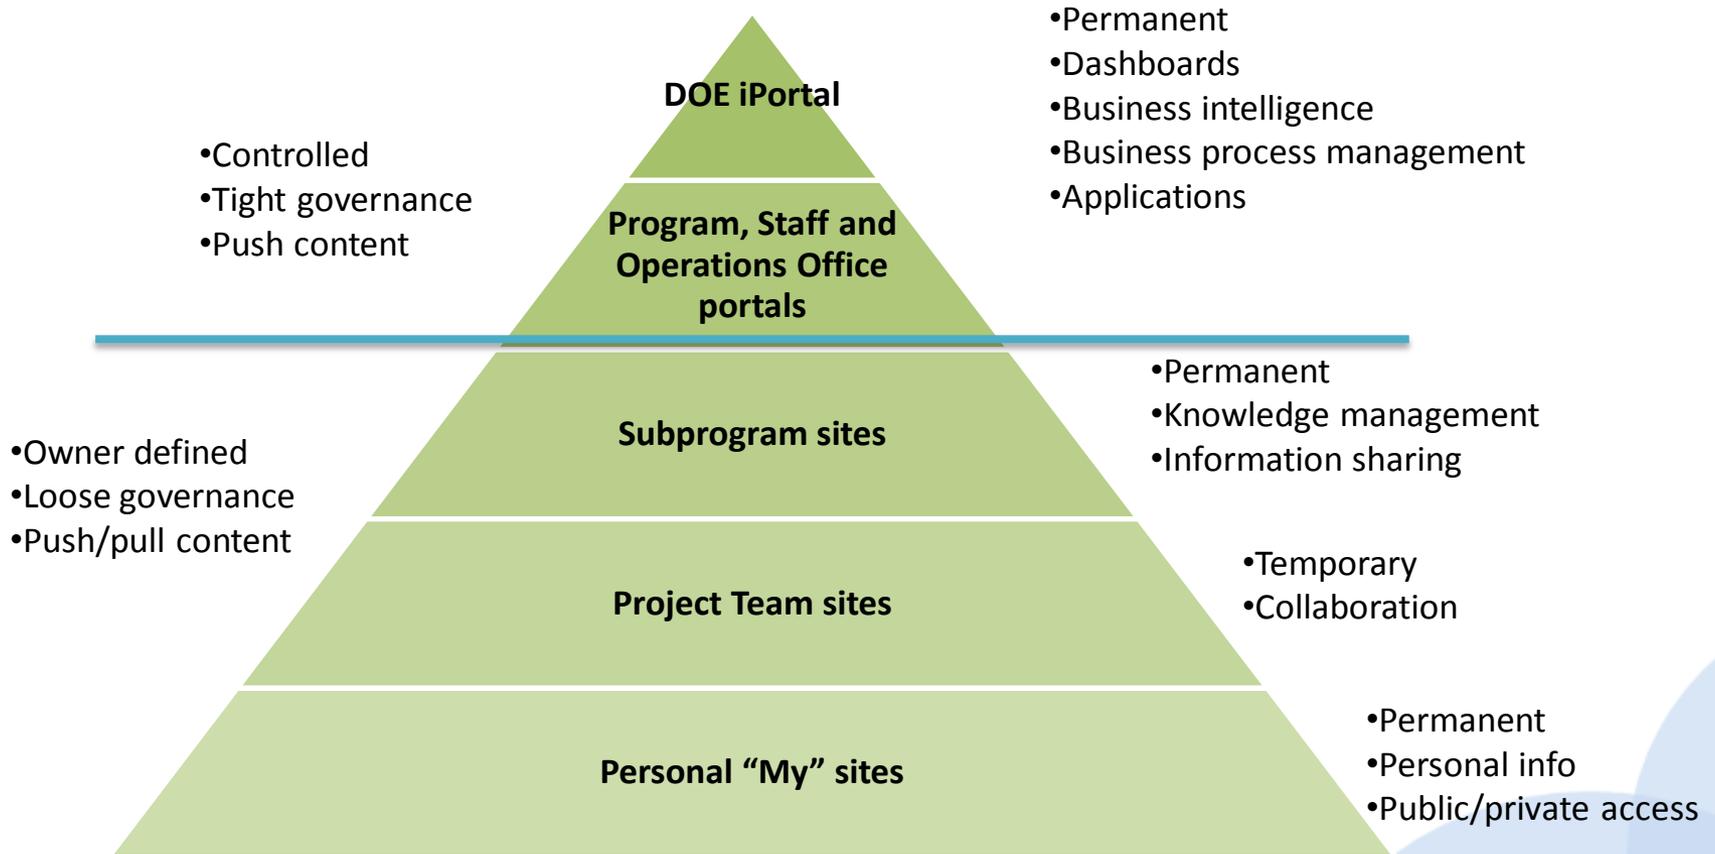

Provide the infrastructure and environment for an internal DOE portal and collaborative support environment that will be utilized by all program offices, site offices, and laboratories across DOE.

Reduce the overall cost of support and licensing and reduce budget needed to provide mission support activities.
